

[Transcript] Les Grosses Têtes / ARCHIVE - Quand O. de Kersauson décroche son téléphone pendant l'émission

Well, this is the first, I'm at my local shop right and falling in love with a grocery cart.

This new caper cart recognizes and weighs everything I put in.

It totals everything up automatically.

And when I hit $35, it asks me to spin the wheel to unlock even more savings.

Oh, oh, oh, come on!

Yes, I won extra savings!

You really understand me, cart.

Come to shop right and save time and money with caper cart by Instacart.

Minimum $35 order with valid shop right loyalty account, excludes alcohol, expires same day offers received.

In terms of life.

Sorry, Mr. Sébastien, but while you were talking, Olivier de Kersousson was taking off his mobile phone, isn't it Olivier?

Mr. Courant of nothing.

I see what you're talking about.

You know that the direction of RTL has told me the accounting, it has told me every time that Mr. de Kersousson's phone is less than 200 euros.

Well, it's still 8,000.

Less than 100 euros?

It's okay, it's okay, the pass is full, it's okay.

That's the affection I have for you.

I would even say admiration.

I put you on a stale foot.

No, don't exaggerate.

Yes, yes, yes.

But I'm just a big guy who will clean up.

It's you, I knew you, you turned your back on the public and there you are still profile.

Yes, I was an accident.

It cost us 500 hectares of time.

Thank you so much.