It's two Belgian people who visit London for the first time this weekend.

They decide to get on a red bus to the Imperial.

They get on a red bus with the two floors.

They sit at the lower level.

A few minutes later, one of them says,

I'm going to get on to see how to start the first one.

To see if the country is the prettiest.

So they climb the climbing stairs leading to the upper level.

And they go down a few moments later, completely crazy.

He's going to see his Belgian friend.

He glists at the ear of his friend.

Well, we've got a lot to do down there.

Up there they don't have a driver.

This is also the archives of the show since 1977.

The best funny stories.

The cult moments, but also unexpected and exclusive content produced by the big heads only accessible to the subscribers.

It's now available for €1.99 per month on Apple Podcast.

All the ingredients of the big heads are there.

shared, humor, humor, culture, and crazy stuff.
