

[Transcript] Founders / Meetup with Me and Shane Parrish of The Knowledge Project

Okay, so I finally have the details of the meetup that I'm doing in Miami, Florida with Shane Parrish of the Knowledge Project podcast and the Farnham Street blog.

If you want to come meet me and Shane and the people that listen to both founders and the Knowledge Project, you're more than welcome to come.

It is a free event.

It is on Tuesday, April 18th.

It's going to be from 6.30pm to 8.30pm.

Try to get there early.

It's free to attend, so I don't know how many people are going to come.

So like once we reach capacity, if you want to make sure you get in, make sure you get there as early as you can.

You don't have to buy a ticket.

You just have to make sure that you add your email to the link below.

You can also go to fs.blog.com and you'll find the link there.

That's important because they'll be checking the emails at the door, so that's how you get in.

Parking is limited, so if you can, try to Uber or Lyft or to Get Dropped Off.

The event is at Bunbury, which is an Argentinian restaurant and wine bar.

They're located.

I'll leave all these details down below as well.

So Bunbury, you can go to BunburyMiami.com.

You can find their address there, but it's 55 Northeast, 14th Street, Miami, Florida.

Zip codes 33132.

I've never done a meetup before.

Hopefully I'm not weird and introverted in person, but I can't make any promises.

I hope to see you there.

Again, please make sure you add the link, or add your email rather, to the link below.

That's very important.

Tuesday, April 18th, 6.30pm, 8.30pm.

Hope to see you there.