How does it get more done?

Monsieur Bigard, you're impatient to tell us a new story

No, but I wanted to talk a little bit about the drink because we're still in the corner, we're talking about the champagne and everything

And there's a guy who comes in a bar and he's pretty happy and says to the boss

When you call the boss, he says I'm called Pierre

He says to me I'm called Gerard

So you put a barrel to Pierre, you put a barrel to Gerard

And you put a barrel to everyone in the bar, the general tour

The bell and everything, everyone drinks a cup

They're almost done, he addresses his new boss and says you're paying already

He says he's always called Pierre

He says to me I'm called Gerard

So you put a barrel to Pierre, you put a barrel to Gerard

And you put a barrel to everyone in the bar, yeah

In the bistro, he's acclaimed after they've finished their glass

He addresses his new boss and says how do you call the boss?

He says you're kidding me, I'm called Pierre

He says to me I'm always called Gerard

So you know what you're going to do

You put a barrel to Pierre, a barrel to Gerard

And you put a barrel to everyone

At the end of the 8th general tour

There's Pierre who worries a little bit, you see he's going to see Gerard

He says Gerard, well we're friends now

But you know you owe me 990 euros

And the other one says you'll excuse me Pierre

But I know I'm going to disappoint you, but I don't have a barrel

Nothing, you can fool me all the time

He's in fury, he catches Gerard, he puts his head down

He's in fury, he's in fury, he's in fury

He's in fury, he's in fury

He's in fury, he's in fury, he's in fury

He's in fury, he's in fury

And 3 months go by

And Gerard comes back to the bistro

And he addresses the guy

He says how do you call the boss?

The other guy says my name is Pierre
And he says my name is Gerard
So you're going to put a barrel to Gerard
And a barrel to everyone in the bar
And Pierre is in fury, he says
And I put my head down and he says
No, but you, when you're drunk, you're bad
History, Jean-Marie
He's a guy who's drunk, he's drunk
He's a faithful husband, he's all drunk
But fortunately, in the car lights, he sees a woman
Who's in front of her car's wheel, who's manifestly dead
And he stops, because he's a good guy
And he says let me help you
He changes the car's wheel, she's sublime
The girl says, I don't know how to thank you
If you want, I'll offer you a glass at home
He looks at his watch, he says OK, why not
But not for a long time, he goes home
She's going to wear a transparent dress
And all, and she sits next to him
And she starts to...
Slowly, he...
You know, he's a little bit shabby
He wears a lot of clothes
He's in love with a banquet, he's in the bedroom
And all of a sudden, he looks at his watch
And it's two o'clock in the morning
What am I going to say?
He says, fuck my wife
And he says, what can I do for you?
He says, give me a piece of blue chalk
And he puts a little bit of it on his shoulders
A little bit on the sleeves of his suit
And his wife, he's in the bathroom
Two o'clock in the morning, he doesn't give a shit
What have you done?
Well, he says, listen
I'm not going to lie to you, I went home
There was a sublime woman
Who had just died with her bath
I didn't expect anything at all
I never saw my life, my life at home
She comes back half naked

She throws herself on me
I think it's a real story
And his wife, she looks at her
She says, stop your bullshit, you idiot
You were still making a beer with your friends
That's it
But I'm not going to lie to you
I'm not going to lie to you
Ah!
Thank you, I want Marie to have kissed me
It's the guy who says, I'm sick
You see, he can't find it
I'm on his feet, as he says
He says, go ahead, let's start from the beginning
You start, what do you like about a woman?
He says, big breasts
I love, I love big breasts
No, but he says, the doctor says
To have a serious relationship, you see
With a durable relationship
With a woman, he says, big breasts
Big breasts
Big breasts
I love big breasts
You see, tell me
The doctor said, he said a little
He thought to me
Saying that a woman who would make you
Children, you see
And with whom you could spend
The rest of your life
He said, spend the rest of my life
No woman
Has these big breasts
She's finished
She's finished
Wait, I turn the page
I think she's finished
That's funny
