

[Transcript] The News Agents / This week on The News Agents: Why are there still racist killings in America?

This is a Global Player Original Podcast.

On today's news agents USA, after the mugshot, the success of it, the fundraising and the millions that have poured in, the real legal difficulties that Donald Trump faces, and the fact that the case that he wants adjourned until 2026, a judge has said, you must be bloody joking, it's going ahead next March.

Also, the shooting in Jacksonville in Florida of three people killed just because they were black by a racist murderer.

It came as America was marking the 60th anniversary of Martin Luther King's famous speech of having a dream where people would be judged by their personality, not the color of their skin.

I have a dream, my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character.

I have a dream.

Available on Global Player.

This has been a Global Player Original Podcast and a Persephoneka production.