

Marshall here. Welcome back to the realignment.

Hey, everyone, I had a particularly disastrous podcasting week to guest rescheduled slash canceled and the two backup episodes I recorded are embargoed until next week because there's time to book publication. So instead, earlier in the week, I wrote in the sub stack that I would love to publish a free AMA episode today for everyone. And as I was recording that and answering the questions at minute 51, the recording corrupted and I lost the entire audio of that recording. So I'm taking this all as a sign from the universe that I need to take a quick break. The show will be back to its regularly scheduled programming next week. And since Sagar is going on vacation, you can expect that free AMA episode on Friday as well. Thanks to everyone to spend your questions and I'll see you all next week.
